Two Annual Programs Highlight Season

Collage By Myron Schober

Two special annual programs will highlight Wartburg's Christmas during the next few days in addition to organization parties and other festivities.

"Let There Be Light," the theme of this year's Christmas at Wartburg program, will be presented twice tomorrow. Chi Rho will again conduct a special Candlelighting Service Monday night.

Christmas at Wartburg will be given at 3 and at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium. This is the first time the Christmas program has ever been presented in the Chapel-auditorium, which will give more opportunities for lighting and setting, according to Business Manager H. C. Engelbrecht, who is in charge of the program.

Christmas At Wartburg In Three Parts

The program will have three sections. In the first section, entitled "A Cry from the Night," a portrayal is given of man's agonizing, searching cry in life. Narrator is John Gill of the Speech Department.

The Band, under the direction of Robert E. Lee, will play numbers written by William Latham of the State College of Iowa in Cedar Falls. The Wartburg Choir, under the direction of Dr. Edwin Liemohn, and the Castle Singers, under the direction of Dr. James Fritschel, will also sing. Soloist Carol Schrage, senior, will sing a featured song "Lost in the Night."

The other choral selections are a variety of Christmas music, which includes the musical classics of Bach and Nicholai, contemporary music of Randall Thompson and Tschesnokov and a variety of carols from all countries. The program also includes congregational singing.

Miss Helen Wright and her art classes prepared the art work, which will add color to the Christmas program.

Candlelighting Service Set For Monday

As its Christmas gift to Wartburg, Chi Rho is sponsoring the annual Candlelighting Service Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium. Pastor Robert Dell will be the speaker for the evening, and Chi Rho President Bob Albers will be the liturgist.

The theme is "Emmanuel," which means "God with us." The service this year will have two additions, the Old Testament prophecies and an explanation of the use of the candles.

As the message is given, the candlelighting is spread throughout the audience. Just as the candles are lit and given out, so should God's word be taught and spread to all the nations, according to the Chi Rho message.

Senior Dean Brockmeier is in charge of the service.

'Let Us Rejoice'

At Christmas we can rejoice with Job when he said, "I had heard Thee by the hearing of the ear, but now mine eye seeth Thee!"

We can rejoice with the lowly shepherds who saw in the child in the manger the Son of God.

We can rejoice with the aged Simeon, who held the child in his arms and full of wonderment cried out, "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen Thy Salvation!"

During the past weeks and months we have had the opportunity to learn about God, perhaps to speculate or philosophize about Him. Most important of all is that we see Him, for "to see God is to translate the idea of God into a living experience." We see God through the life of Him Who is our Lord. Through Him we know God. Through Him we learn truly to love God.

May your greatest joy this Christmas result from the renewed experience of seeing God, of experiencing His love in your life! May you go rejoicing on your way, joining in the song of the angels, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased!"

Pres. C. H. Becker

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Council Will Consider Light, Parking

Waverly City Council will consider installation of a flashing yellow warning light and elimination of parking on College Hill corner shortly after the new year begins as a result of such proposals in a Trumpet editorial Nov. 11.

Newly elected city councilman Al Bahlmann, a 1957 Wartburg graduate, said that the council would reopen a study that was made several years ago. Bahlmann said that Waverly Mayor Fred Gaylor told him that he could see no reason why this couldn't be opened up.

Trumpet Asks For Light On Corner

The Trumpet has made the suggestions to eliminate the hazard at the intersection as part of its annual safety campaign. Reasons for a warning light and elimination of parking near the corner are to improve visibility so that cars could get onto Bremer Avenue more easily and so that pedestrians could cross the busy street safely.

Bahlmann, who will probably be placed on the Traffic and Public Safety Committee of the Council when he takes over his post, said that he would bring the matter up and would do all he could to get some effective action on it.

The proposal to put a yellow warning light at College Hill corner prompted Mayor Gaylor to suggest that such lights be placed at other busy pedestrian crossing points in the city.

Stop Light Proposal Fails In 1959

The study made in 1959 was also started by a Trumpet campaign. At that time the Trumpet suggested that a stop light be put on the corner, but the State Highway Commission would not approve a stop light because it would interrupt the flow of traffic on Bremer, which also serves as U.S. Highway 218 and state Highway 3.

In the other phase of this year's safety campaign no seat belts were sold during the past week at either Larry's Shell Service, 200 W. Bremer, or at Cities Service, 100 W. Bremer. Several inquiries were received, but no one bought seat belts. The week before three seat belts were sold.

Both stations have agreed to offer the seat belts at a 10 per cent discount for another week.

Quick Action Could Save Lives

These next three days could be important ones in the lives of the many Wartburg students who will be traveling long distances Wednesday for Christmas vacation.

Governor Norman Erbe has been leading a big push for seat belts in both state cars and those of the general public. An estimated seventy-five lives could be saved in Iowa alone, and approximately five thousand lives could be saved throughout the United States if all cars had seat belts, according to the National Safety Council.

Don't take a chance — take care. Remember, a little chance makes a big crash.

Deadly Indifference Is Killer

On the morning of May 5, 1961, most Americans and much of the free world were concerned with the safety of one man. The man was Commander Alan B. Shepard Jr., and the event was the launching of America's first astronaut.

Commander Shepard came through the flight with no trouble, but on that same day 254 Americans died in traffic and other accidents, according to National Safety Council figures.

The men involved in the launching of America's first astronaut could not afford to take chances. A human life and millions of dollars were involved.

But those who were killed on the highways on May 5, 1961, were taking chances with human life when they backed from their driveways and launched themselves into traffic.

What was the difference? The money involved? Most people would hardly consider money a substitute for human life. Danger? It is just as easy to get killed in an automobile as in a rocket.

No, these were not the real reasons for the concern. Most likely it was the drama of the event, the fact that it was our first attempt, the fact that Alan Shepard was alone.

People drive on the highways every day. There is little, if any, drama. Often the driver is not alone. Driving is commonplace. Millions do it every day. And tens of thousands die on the highways every year.

With respect to danger, there is little difference between an automobile and a rocket — both can kill. In the case of the rocket launching there was a full realization on the part of those involved that there was danger and that something could easily go wrong. The scientists at Cape Canaveral knew it was dangerous. They took precautions, and there's the difference.

Thoughts of being killed or injured are far from the minds of most people when they get behind the wheel of a car. If they do think about it, the usual reaction is "It can't happen to me." A little common sense would expose the fallacy of this logic with about the same speed as the '62 cars are capable of.

Realization of the fact that an accident can happen to anyone would result in better observation of traffic laws on the part of everyone. Our automobiles would be likely to be checked for trouble spots more often, we would use seat belts and would be continually on the lookout for potential trouble whenever assuming the responsibility of driving a car.

If we showed just half as much concern for our own lives as we did for the life of Alan Shepard last May 5, if we took just a fraction as many precautionary measures as the scientists at Cape Canaveral took, chances for surviving that next automobile ride would be greatly increased.

Gurn's Roommate Debuts In Bigtime

By Manny Brandt

If you are quite observant you'll have noticed by now that this column is under new ("different" might be more appropriate) authorship. If you don't recognize the name, I might make it easier for you by saying that I'm Gurnie Dobbs' roommate. Now you know I'm totally out of my mind.

Gurn has graciously offered his wittily caustic tongue and his guiding Christian hand in writing the column. I'm very glad to have his assistance because when the complaints come in, we'll all have someone to blame.

Well, here comes the smut, Martha!

It seems as if winter's finally here. The weather is turning colder, the snow is gently drifting through the crack in our window, the squirrels are dying and the Christmas spirit is upon the campus.

The administration has the Christmas spirit of giving — just this week I received two cards from Mr. Oppermann's office.

No column would be complete, I suppose, without some sarcastic comments on the cafeteria food. I work there, so let's just consider this column incomplete.

I might say, instead, a word of commendation. Through the use of menuboards the term "mystery meat" has been eliminated from the student vocabulary.

It has been replaced by such tantalizing terms as "El Rancho Sizzlers," "Veal Choppettes" and "Quick Serves." This is progress!

Well, gang, so ends the first column. In the meantime, set your decoder ring at XXIV, and the message for the week is "Captain Midnight is watching."

The next meeting will be held at the usual place — remember, what's-his-name's garage. The secret knock is still 34 rapid raps, a pause and a one-minute whistle. The password is "I help mommy with the dishes." Please bring three pennies to the meeting.

JUNIOR FROM NORWAY SAYS,

Americans Need Awakening

By Jan Horne

When I came from Norway 5½ years ago and went to my first church service in America, in a church on Long Island, N.Y., I was impressed by the solemnity and the coherence of the congregation.

The very few church services I had attended previously in Norway were so different. A worshipper there is an individual—he doesn't feel so much that he is in a congregation, facing the altar of God together, in unison, with everybody.

Country Looks Good

I had this good impression for some time after that, and it was strengthened by the line which is printed on every coin: "In God We Trust." This seemed like a good country of which to be a citizen.

After a few months I wrote home and told my folks that I would probably stay longer in America than I had planned because I wanted to go into the Air Force. The years I spent there proved a valuable period during which I became acquainted with and accustomed to the American way of life.

Groups Important In Army

In the service it is not the individual who is emphasized but individuals as they make up a group, working toward a common goal. We learned to do that, to think of ourselves as a team, "sticking together in all kinds of weather."

As in the service, so also the college is a group of young men and women coming together for a common purpose, to further their education, to get a degree or to say it in the words which I heard in my first American sermon, "to put our talents to good use." This was taken from Matt. 25: 14-30, a worth-while parable to read. Talent Is Realized.

Particularly while at college we come to realize what kind of talent it is with which we have been rewarded. To some learning comes easy, for others it is more difficult. It should be evident to all of us, however, what kind of talent we have.

But why are we limiting this talent of ours? Why are we not using this gift to the utmost, and not just in the task of securing the best obtainable grades? If developing our own strength is our goal, we are certainly going about it in the wrong way.

Students Forget Others

It is not a sign of strength to be inconsiderate to our roommates and the others who live on our floor. Some, when they don't feel like studying, assume that others feel likewise, and thus totally ignore the needs of their fellow students.

Silence is a better sign of the kind of strength and wisdom which is needed today than a lot of noise and a variety of profanity. The latter simply is a cover, or a false front, for the kind of strength we do not have.

Impression Can Be Affected

What kind of impression do we think we make to a Russian, for example, using profanity against the God in whom we profess to trust?

And those of us who are pre-the's, what kind of an impression do we leave with those who someday may sit in our congregation? Are we not ridiculing Him whom we are going to serve?

It has been said that the young people in America today are too soft. In what respect? Certainly not only as far as physical strength is concerned.

Only a minority of students read first page news first, while the majority settle down with the sports page. I don't think sports are bad—far from it; but I think they are taking up too much time, and are being overly emphasized in our schools.

Some Refute Azarov

During the open question periods with Ivan Azarov, the Russian embassy speaker here Dec. 5, it was good to hear how well a few students defended the American way of life. I wonder, however, if we just gave Azarov the cold shoulder.

I think we were as prejudiced as he was in our statements. We came with the attitude that Azarov is a Russian — ergo, he is wrong, all wrong. It wouldn't surprise me if Azarov thought the same about us.

How can we settle any issues this way? With closed minds, with a total justification of our way of life and a rejection of everything which does not conform to it?

We ought to turn our conversations toward the political issues in the world. "Why? What can we as students do, anyway?" we ask. The least we can do is to show an interest in the affairs of our country, to begin now forming our own thoughts, not to be a Democrat or Republican just because our fathers were.

Faith Is Needed

We ought to prepare a faith in this country and in our God — a reasoning, not a blind faith, one so strong that we can listen to, and reason with, all kinds of views and still not be shaken.

Let it not be true again what Winston Churchill said, "Never have so few done so much for so many." Let us all participate in discussing and writing about the affairs of our country, our state and our community that we may be better citizens, fulfilling (in part, at least) the task which our forefathers began—to make this the best country in the world.

This is the kind of country of which I would like to be a citizen, where the people realize and never forget the price of freedom we enjoy and of our particular way of life and strive for the improvement of both.

We, too, can do something for our country! Pick up that first page. Begin to participate.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our deepest appreciation and gratefulness to you, the student body and faculty members, for your kindness, whether in word, card or deed, during the loss of our mother and loved one. Thanks also for your contribution to a memorial fund.

May this Christmas season truly be a blessed one for all of you.

Sincerely,
Don and Del Goetz

Death Rides Again

Death enjoys company.

Death is present everywhere. He walks along to classes with you, he sits down beside you at lunch and he will be riding home with you for Christmas vacation.

Death plays no favorites. He doesn't walk only with the sick, the downtrodden, the weary — he walks, or rides, with everybody.

Death spares no one. William Cullen Bryant, great American poet, has said in his poem "Thanatopsis": "Thou shalt lie down with patriarchs of the infant world — with kings, the powerful of the earth — the wise, the good, fair forms, and hoary seers of ages past, all in one mighty sepulchre."

Death joins the happiest groups. A carload of students heading home with Christmas carols on their lips and smiles on their faces will have Death as their companion.

Death may be hiding in many places.

Death may be hiding beside the driver of the car. Joe may be thinking of all the Christmas festivities that await him at home, his best girl, his Mom's superb cooking or what he is going to have done to his car at home. While Joe's thoughts drift off on a hundred other subjects, Death may easily take the wheel.

Death may be hiding in the back seat, too. Sally loves to talk, and mostly to Joe. She laughs loudly and does everything she can to attract his attention. If Joe doesn't watch out, Sally and her accomplice, Death, may succeed in detracting Joe's attention away from driving.

Death may be hiding with still another rider. Jim likes to be daring. He enjoys a thrill in taking chances and urges Joe to do the same. Jim uses these devices when Joe approaches a stop light or contemplates passing a truck on a slope. If Joe follows Jim's wishes, Death may have an easy victory.

Death doesn't have to be attached to a person.

Death may be contained in the Christmas packages heaped up along a back window blocking Joe's view, or Death may ride along in the speedometer to fool Joe. Maybe Joe doesn't know that excessive speed was the cause of 35 per cent of the fatal accidents in 1960.

Death watches and waits for the time to strike, and he strikes often. In 1960 there were 38,200 persons killed in auto accidents. Of that number, 9,100 were between the ages of 15 and 24. This was the second largest death group age, led only by the age group between 25 and 44.

Death breaks all speed laws, Death runs all stop lights, Death takes chances and Death spares no one. Will you let Death ride with you?

Two Queens Chosen Recently

By Elaine Melchert
During the last two weeks Wartburg chose two queens in the persons of Darlene Nimtz, Fortress Queen, and Janet Walendy, Pi Sigma Queen.

"I have never spent such an extraordinary evening and I still smile every time I think of it," was Darlene's comment, concerning the evening she was named queen of the 1961-62 Fortress.

the Fortress staff and the honor kept secret until the announcement during the half-time of the Texas Lutheran basketball game.

Through previous arrangement by the Fortress editors, Dick Hanneman, Darlene's fiancé, took Darlene out for supper before coming to the basketball game.

"This accounts for the hurried supper, no dessert and the fast driving by Dick," said Darlene. "I never knew he was such a good actor."

Queen Is From Wisconsin

Blonde, green-eyed, 5'3" Darlene is a senior from West Bend, Wis., majoring in elementary education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nimtz and has one sister, Judy, a Wartburg sophomore, and a brother, who is a high school senior.

Darlene was a member of this year's Homecoming court and was also elected to Who's Who. She is student body secretary and a member of Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society, and Student Education Association.

As Fortress queen, Darlene will be entered in the Drake Relays queen contest in the spring, according to Fortress Co-editors Myrna Boyken and Rhoda Schmidt, who made the presentation.

Jan Gets Crown At Dance

The other half of the recent royalty, Jan Walendy, was crowned Pi Sigma Queen during the annual Christmas Turnabout dance, "Holiday in the Alps." Serving on her court were freshmen Janice Howard and Marcia Rensch.

Jan, a sophomore, hails from Clarendon Hills, Ill., and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Walendy. Blonde, hazel-eyed, 5'5" Jan is Centennial Hall treasurer and a member of Castle Singers and Pi Sigma.

Majoring in home economics, Jan hopes to teach in junior high school after graduation. For pastimes she likes to sew, draw and dance.

"I was happy and very surprised to be announced as Pi Sigma Queen," said Jan.

Progress Noted In Dorm Addition

Steady progress is being made on the new dormitory, although there still is a long way to go before completion.

A combination of tiling, painting and some woodworking is now being done, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, business manager.

Dedication is being planned for next fall, but the president's cabinet will determine the exact date. Dedication will probably be held in connection with Homecoming or at the beginning of the school year.

Russian Theater Lecture Subject

The fourth in a series of English lectures will be held in the Chapel-auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 5.

"Russian Theater" is the theme of the lecture. Speaker John Gill of the drama department will elaborate on this topic.

After the lecture, coffee will be served.

Previous lectures have been on Russian opera, fairy tales and novels.

Cast for the next major production by the Wartburg Players, "Antigone," was announced by John Gill on Wednesday.

Adapted for the stage by Lewis Galantiere from a production by Jean Anouilh, the ancient Greek play requires a cast of eight men and four women. "Antigone" involves the two sons and two daughters of Oedipus, the recently departed king of Thebes, and the new king, Creon.

Judy Nimtz will be the leading lady, portraying the famous Antigone, heroine of the play, who risks her life to bury her dead brother after Creon has forbidden it. Creon will be played by Don Ehlers.

Others in the cast will be Daniel Diekhoff as Chorus, Kathryn Kooh as the Nurse, Saaryn Purcell portraying Ismene, Don Hughes as Haemon, Ken Weiss playing the Messenger, and Joyce Bethke as Eurydice.

Three guards will be Richard Weigel, Randy Marsh and Al Sandau. The page, as a young boy, has not yet been chosen.

Three performances of "Antigone" will be presented Feb. 2, 3 and 4 in the Chapel-auditorium at 8 p.m.

Christmas Convo Is Tues. Feature

Christmas convocation will be held this Tuesday, according to Pastor H. W. Diers.

President C. H. Becker will speak on "They Shall See God." Robert Larson, Music Department, will present a solo, and the Castle Singers will sing two numbers.

50 City Leaders Discuss Wartburg

Nearly fifty Waterloo and Cedar Falls city leaders met at the Waterloo airport recently as part of the reorganization of Wartburg's Development Council.

Pres. C. H. Becker addressed the group on "Challenges Facing Education in the Next 10 Years."

According to Development Director Martin Ackermann, who also attended the meeting, six leaders from each city met earlier this fall to learn about Wartburg's program. These 12 then interested about eighty leaders altogether.

Next meeting of the group, which will be part of the Public Relations Committee of the Development Council, will be in mid-January on campus, according to Ackermann. He pointed out that none of the group is an alumnus of Wartburg but that all members are interested in Wartburg.

IIAC Presidents Meet Here At 10

Presidents of all schools in the Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference were scheduled to meet here at 10 a.m. today.

One of the chief items of business was the election of a new head to replace the late Dr. Raymond Chadwick, former president of Iowa Wesleyan.

Other topics will be tuition and scholarships, according to Wartburg Pres. C. H. Becker, although there is no set agenda.

BRINGS EARLY CHRISTMAS TO KOREAN ORPHAN

Freshman Is Foster Parent

By Jen Miller

Christmas began last month for Myung Il Kwak, a fatherless Korean girl, and it will continue indefinitely, thanks to Linda Van Hoveln and the Foster Parents' Plan.

Linda, freshman from Milford, Ill., adopted 10-year-old Myung early in November after answering a magazine ad sponsored by the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

Linda Will Help

"I've always been interested in orphans and children who don't have very much," said Linda, "and I wished I could help them. This year I decided I would."

Myung lives with her mother, brother and sister in a single room with thin wood walls and a roof made of oiled paper.

"Mrs. Kwak sells noodles in one corner of the house," Linda said, "and she earns about 40 cents a day."

Linda Pays $15 Monthly

As a foster parent, Linda contributes $15 each month to Myung's care.

"She gets eight dollars in cash," said Linda, "and the rest goes for school supplies and clothing. Now that she's in the plan, Myung can go to school for the first time."

"I can also send a package each week, and so far I've sent clothing and toys."

Anyone Can Contribute

Linda said that anyone wishing to contribute something could do so simply by getting in touch with her. She recommends things such as clothing, kitchen utensils and blankets but no food or luxury items.

"There'll be a package every week," she said, "so it doesn't matter when they get their things in."

All packages, money and letters are handled by the Foster Parents' Plan.

Monthly Letter Permitted

"I can write to Myung once a month," Linda said. "Only a small number of letters are permitted because of the cost involved in translating them.

"In about a month I hope to get a letter from Myung, which will be accompanied by a translation. I would like very much to meet her someday."

Seven Countries Aided

The Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., aids children in France, Greece, Italy, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines and Viet Nam.

"Maybe students could get together and form an organization to sponsor this program," said Linda.

"I will be happy to give anyone any information I can, and students can also write to International Headquarters located at 352 Park Ave. S., New York 10, N.Y."

Team To Clash With USD

By Paul Mardorf
Knights will be in Vermillion, S.D., tonight for a non-conference clash with the University of South Dakota.

This year's SDU team is a tall team. However, Knight Head Coach Fred Jaspers said earlier this week, "It is not expected to be as good as the team that defeated the Knights a year ago, 70-45."

Knights At Home Tuesday
Next Tuesday the Knights return home for a conference game with the University of Dubuque. The Spartans, although not expected to do much this year, have played good ball. They defeated Upper Iowa, which was ranked as a conference contender in pre-season predictions.

This will be the first home game for the Knights after four straight road games.

Non-Conference Foes Aid

In viewing the tough non-conference schedule the Knights have faced, Coach Jaspers commented, "Despite our losses, it is going to prove very helpful for us in the long run."

"We are doing at least one thing better in every game," he said. "The main thing now is the need for a more consistent defense."

Knights Drop Two

During the past week the Knights suffered two defeats, one a non-conference loss and the other a conference loss.

Last Saturday the Knights were "lost in the forest" at Normal, Ill., 104-73.

As has been the case quite often this year, the Knights were at a height disadvantage. Led by Swart with 18 points and Ringel with 16 points, Normal romped to an easy victory. Senior Dar Oehlerich took scoring honors for the Knights with 19 points.

BV Drops Wartburg

Tuesday evening the Knights opened the conference season with a loss at Buena Vista, 90-78.

Until the latter part of the second half, the game was close all the way. BV led at halftime 45-44.

Then after the Knights' three big men had fouled out, the Beavers began to pull away.

Oehlerich was the leading scorer for the Knights for the third time in four games. He pumped in 24 points. Sophomore Ray Bye followed Oehlerich with 20 points.

Jim Ahrens led the Beavers and all scorers with 27 points.

SOUTHPAW DAVE LANGROCK slips by a defender on his way to a lay-up in an early season game as the Knights prepare for tough conference competition.

PICKING UP SPLINTERS

BV, Wesleyan Winning; Knights Need Support

By Paul Baumgarten

The Iowa Conference BB season seems again to have bounced off about as expected. The biggest surprise appears to be that Iowa Wesleyan is finally winning again after a layoff of about thirty games. The Tigers won one non-conference tilt and Tuesday night broke the conference shutout by toping Simpson 67-63.

Baumgarten

A possible powerhouse at this point seems to be Buena Vista. It has stopped depending on Jim Ahrens for all its scoring. In pre-conference action he was only third high among the BV scorers. In an earlier league game the Beavers had five men in double figures. With front-line height, BV should have extremely good rebounding.

The most consistent scorers thus far have familiar names. Rathje leads Dubuque; Dutton, Upper Iowa; Ahrens, BV; and two strange ones in this group, Oehlerich for the Knights and Subbert for BV.

Here is a complete rundown of conference games up to Wednesday night: The action opened Friday night with two games. Buena Vista defeated Simpson 77-61 at Storm Lake, and in the other contest Wesleyan's home opener was ruined by Central, 69-60.

The only game Saturday night saw Upper Iowa traveling to Dubuque. The Spartans came out on the long end of this one, 80-73.

Monday evening there were two games in addition to the Knight-Buena Vista tilt. In the first, Iowa Wesleyan defeated Simpson 67-63. The score of the Parsons game had not yet been published at the time of this writing.

I had a talk with Coach Fred Jaspers earlier in the week about the play of his squad thus far this year. He seemed to be quite optimistic about the progress shown by his players.

He said that he feels they are progressing quite well in the process of learning the new offense and defense and that what the team most needs now is experience, to clear up the rough spots, both offensively and defensively.

One other interesting thing came out of the interview: Jaspers mentioned the importance of a home crowd in aiding the performance of a team. This would seem to be especially important in the case of a relatively inexperienced squad such as the Knights possess this year.

Therefore, the final word for the week is be sure and get out for the game with Dubuque Tuesday night.

Sixth Tall Corn Tourney Scheduled For Dec. 29-30

The sixth Annual Tall Corn Holiday Tournament, co-sponsored by Wartburg and State College of Iowa, will be held Dec. 29 and 30 this year.

Tourney will open the 29th at Cedar Falls, with the finals being played in Knights Gymnasium the following night.

This year's meet should be a tremendous tournament, from the spectator's point of view.

Knights Play Cornell

In the first round the Wartburg Knights face a strong Cornell College ball team at 7 p.m., and at 9 p.m. the highly touted SCI Panthers take on Illinois Normal.

Earlier this year Illinois Normal romped past the Knights 104-73.

First Tall Corn Tournament was held in January of 1957, and SCI, then Iowa State Teachers College, was champion. Knights took second.

SCI Dominates Tourney

In the first five years of the tournament, SCI has won every year except for 1958 when the Knights took the championship. A visiting team has never won the tournament.

SCI holds most of the tournament team records. Owen Wallin, who played with Gustavus Adolphus in 1958, holds many of the individual records.

Only Knight record in the tournament is a tie for the most rebounds in a game. This was recorded by John Tuecke in 1958, when he captured 19 rebounds.

Cotta Takes Championship In Interleague Volleyball

Cotta won the intramural volleyball championship Thursday night in the interleague championships. Also in the championship matches, Married Men finished second, Faculty took third, and Vollmer House ended up in fourth place.

In the league play-offs Tuesday for the right to compete in the championship round, each of the top four teams in each league played two 10-minute games against the other three top teams of its respective league.

In the American League play-offs, Married Men won five and lost two. Vollmer House and Alpha-Ketha each won three and lost three, and Grossmann III won one and lost five. Vollmer House and Alpha-Ketha therefore had to play the tie off, and Vollmer won, thereby enabling that team to go to the championship round along with Married Men.

In the National League play-offs, Faculty won six and lost none, Cotta won three and lost three, Clinton III won two and lost four, and Grossmann I-Basement won one and lost five. Faculty and Cotta, therefore, won the right to go to the interleague championships.

Final season standings, not including the post-season play-offs, were as follows:

American League
Alpha Ketha	5	1
Married Men	5	1
Grossmann III	3	3
Vollmer House	3	3
Grossmann II	2	4
Off-campus	2	4
Clinton B	1	5
National League
Cotta	6	0
Faculty	5	1
Clinton III	3	3
Clinton II	2	4
Grossmann I-B	2	4
North Hall	2	4
Clinton I	1	5

TOP KNIGHT SCORER AND PLAYMAKER

Keystone Kid Key To Wartburg Attack

By John Stumme

The Keystone kid who came to Wartburg and "made good."

That, in a sentence, is the story of senior Darwin Oehlerich, the Knights' leading basketball scorer.

Oehlerich was one of six or seven boys from Keystone who started to play together at an early age.

Hustler Oehlerich

Sowers Selected For Luth. Team

Knight linebacker Don Sowers received more football honors recently by being named to the second All-Lutheran college football team.

Sowers, a senior, was named to the mythical team by the magazine "Lutheran Companion" in an article written by Bud Thies of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Sowers previously had been named an All-conference defensive choice by coaches for the second straight year.

Luther placed two men on the second team—halfback Gerald Anderson and end Jerry Wiebusch.

Freshmen Defeat BV For Second Straight Win

Wartburg's freshmen nosed out their Buena Vista counterparts, 75-70, Tuesday night. This was the second win for the Squires, who have lost only to the varsity in a pre-season contest.

All five starters hit in double figures against Buena Vista. Bob Nielsen dumped in 20 points to lead the first-year men. Harold Shudlick with 16, Jerry Hemenway and Paul Zietlow with 12 apiece and Dave Lange with 10 completed the five-fronted attack.

In the three Squire games played to date, the two guards,

Nielsen and Hemenway, have been the leading scorers. Nielsen has 54 points and an 18-point average. Hemenway has scored six less and averages 16 points per contest. Shudlick and Zietlow are averaging 8.1 points, and Lange 5.7.

"Our biggest problem has been getting them to play as a team," said Coach John Kurtz. "In high school they were all individual stars. But they're coming along okay and are working better as a unit."

The freshmen play Dubuque Tuesday in the Knights Gymnasium. Starting time is 5:45 p.m.

Jomen Host Viking Crew

Wartburg Knight wrestling team goes into action as a unit for the first time this year against Augustana at Knights Gymnasium this afternoon at 2.

Knights finished second in the Iowa Conference last year and compiled a 5-6 record in dual meets. However, Coach Norm Johansen is expecting a much improved and stronger team this year.

Probable line-up for the Knight grapplers is as follows:

- 123—Roger Damrow
 - 130—Bill Smith
 - 137—Jim Mueller
 - 147—Forrest Cerny
 - 157—Tim Tower
 - 167—Keith Sillman
 - 177—Jeff Milson or Ken Gill
- Hwt.—Duane Huth

Knights, as a whole, shape up as a young team, with three juniors, two sophomores and three freshmen. No seniors are included in the opening line-up.

Last Saturday Johansen took most of his charges to Cedar Falls for the AAU meet at State College of Iowa.

Junior Tim Tower was the only Knight to place in the finals as he took fourth place in the 157-pound weight class.

Traveler Becomes Teacher

By Jen Miller

In just three years Li-jen Feng, Wartburg's newest member of the Business Administration and Economics Department, has seen about eighty per cent of the United States. He's traveled from west to east and north to south since he left his home in Tai Pei, Formosa.

Feng was forced to flee from Shanghai in 1949 before he took his final examinations at the National Chi-Nan University. Special examinations were provided, however, by the Ministry of Education on Formosa. After he received his B.A. degree, Feng worked for the United States Information Service from 1950-55.

In 1956 he left his wife, Svan Hna, and son to come to California. After he received his M.A. in 1959, he went across country all the way to New York.

Worked For Bible Society

"I did general office work for the American Bible Society in New York," said Feng, "in the Ways and Means Department."

Last summer, after applying to several small Midwestern and New England schools, Feng came to Wartburg and signed a contract to do his first year of teaching. He is replacing Melvin Kramer, who is on leave of absence for this year to work toward a doctorate.

"One of the reasons I picked Wartburg," he smiled, "is that I have a number of German friends in California and New York."

Feng Teaches Business

Feng is teaching Principles of Accounting, Labor Economics, Office Practice and Business Machines courses.

"I don't like Business Machines as well as the other subjects," he said, "because the students learn mostly by themselves."

Although Formosa usually has very warm weather and snow only in the high mountains, Feng doesn't mind the recent cold wave.

Formosan Likes Snow

"I like the snow," he said, "and I think it's good exercise to walk on it."

In addition to the weather, Feng likes most American food, especially milk products, corn beef and jello, which he cannot get at home.

"I sometimes do my own cooking," he said, "and I like steak — certainly!"

Hobby Is Photography

Amateur photography occupies any spare time Feng may have, and he also likes to travel. In this country, he particularly enjoyed his trip through the South.

"I didn't stay in the South too long, but I like the old states, such as Georgia and Alabama. They remind me of the past," said Feng, "especially in the type of architecture. The people are very hospitable."

"In a small town in Texas, I saw Negroes living under poor conditions, but I didn't get a chance to talk to any of them."

Back Home In November

When Feng returns to Formosa, possibly next November, he plans either to continue teaching or to work for the government. He shares the hope of most Chinese, that the mainland and Formosa will be reunited sometime in the future.

"I think reunification is the wish of about ninety per cent of the people. Of course, we won't accept the Communist system. The people in Communist China don't like their government, but they have no alternative."

Communists Push Doctrine

"The Communists push their doctrine very hard," he continued, "and they try very hard to educate everybody. I don't think, though, that the Chinese would like to give up their traditional way of life."

It is highly possible that the Moscow plan will never be fully extended in China as long as men like Feng make Formosa a stronghold of freedom.

Late Classes Set

Wartburg will offer eight late afternoon, evening and Saturday courses for regular college credit to students and area residents next semester, according to Dean of Faculty J. O. Chellevoid.

Three new courses that have not been offered before are Church Music (Liturgical), Social Disorganization and Rural Sociology.

Sociology Only Sat. Class

The only class that will be held on Saturday is Sociology 202, Social Disorganization. This course will be held from 9-10:20 and 10:30 a.m. until 12 noon in Room 101, Luther Hall, under the instruction of Pastor August Baetke.

Christianity 304, Mission of the Church, will be instructed by Pastor Waldemar Gies on Thursday in Room 101, Luther Hall, with two hours of credit.

Schmidt Teaches Music

Christianity 316, Church Music (Liturgical), will be offered on Mondays from 5:40-6:35 and 7-7:45 p.m. in Room 107, Fine Arts Center, for two hours' credit under Dr. Warren Schmidt.

English 102, Communication Skills, will be given on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 4:45 p.m. in Room 102, Luther Hall, for four credit hours with Pastor Neil Eckstein as teacher.

English 207, Contemporary English and American Literature, will be instructed by Dr. Phillip Kildahl on Mondays and Thursdays from 5:40-6:35 and 7-7:45 p.m. in Room 110, Luther Hall.

History Offered Twice

History 102, Western Heritage, will be taught by both Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg and Ronald Mathias. Ottersberg's class will be held on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4-4:50 p.m. in Room 207, Luther Hall.

Mathias' class will meet on Mondays and Thursdays from 5:40-6:35 and 7-7:45 p.m. in Room 207, Luther Hall.

Sociology 301, Rural Sociology, will be taught by Raymond Norheim on Mondays and Thursdays from 5:40-6:35 and 7-7:45 p.m. in Room 105, Luther Hall, for three credit hours.

Pres., Faculty Dean To Attend Meetings

Pres. C. H. Becker and Dean of Faculty J. O. Chellevoid will attend several meetings in Cleveland, Ohio, between Jan. 7 and 11.

The three principal meetings they will attend are the National Lutheran Education Conference, Conference of Academic Deans and the Association of American Colleges.

TV Spots Wartburg

Wartburg will be one of several eastern Iowa colleges receiving the benefit of spot announcements on WMT-TV in Cedar Rapids between January and May as an aid to education.

Becker Aiding Drive

Wartburg Pres. C. H. Becker was recently selected as one of the top five men to lead the Waverly Community Hospital Drive.

President Becker's task is to secure chairmen in the outlying area and to assist in organizing the drive to construct a new hospital in Waverly.

1962 Castle Editor Urges Students To Write Now

"Write material over Christmas vacation and win some money," urges senior Rosalie Froehlich, editor of the 1962 Castle.

The Castle, campus literary magazine, includes prose, poetry, short stories, odes, narrative poems, and essays. All entries are written by students.

Prizes will again be awarded, according to Miss Froehlich. First, second and third prizes are set at $10, $7 and $5. Awards are made in the poetry and the prose divisions.

Deadline for submitting contest material is Jan. 19, and entry blanks will be available after vacation. Judging for the contest will be done by members of the English Department.

Several additions or changes are being planned by the staff for this year. These possibilities include publishing more book reviews, including essays written in French or German, improving binding and having glossy covers, according to Miss Froehlich.

Distribution of the magazine will be in May. The staff plans to have copies available for sale on Spring Parents Day, High School Visitation Day and at Commencement.

Staff members include senior Don Ehlers and junior Louise Loots, associate editors; senior Rodger Clark, art editor; Carolyn Johannsen, senior, business manager; and Dr. P. A. Kildahl, adviser.

Students Will Still Get Abolished Parish Award

All students who are presently getting the Parish Scholarship will continue to get the award until they leave or graduate, as a result of Board of Regents Executive Committee action Wednesday.

The Board had previously eliminated the award at its meeting Nov. 14 and left it up to the Executive Committee to make adjustments for those already receiving the scholarship.

The Parish Scholarship has been given to every entering student belonging to the American Lutheran Church. The award consists of $25 each semester, or a total of $200 over a four-year period.

Members of the Executive Committee, in addition to Pres.

C. H. Becker and Business Manager H. C. Engelbrecht (ex officio), are Board members Mrs. Henry Graven, Dr. L. L. Belk, Dr. Walter Voecks, Fred Lentz and William Voigts.

CAUSERIE DE DIVERTISSEMENT

Christmas Spirit Invades Students, Clubs, Campus

By Louise Loots

With our thoughts so centered on somehow existing until Wednesday noon, it's hard to think of any other thing. So, I'll remind you of just a few meetings.

First of all, don't forget about open house on Sunday in the girls' dorms. Everyone is invited to visit Centennial and Vollmer Halls between 4:15 and 5:30 p.m., and Wartburg Hall from after the afternoon performance of "Christmas at Wartburg" until 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served until 5:30.

Louise

In addition to all the merry laughter of dorm parties during the next few days, the Trumpet and Fortress staffs are promised a lot of fun at a Christmas party tomorrow night at 5:30 in the Little Theatre. The agenda: food!

Still looking for fun? Why not attend the Fun Night tonight in the gym? Sponsored by the Intramural Committee, the activities will last from 7:30 until 10 p.m.

Do you remember the energetic little elf who invaded our campus about two months ago? He's back, and just as mischievous as ever. No one even knew of his presence until, lo and behold, the fishpond sprouted greens!

Not only that, but a tall evergreen suddenly appeared in front of the cafeteria, twinkling with lights in the darkness. The first snowfall partially covered up his creations, but I think he must have been hiding, for when it stopped snowing, he appeared again, as busy as before.

It's pretty difficult to catch this small fellow. It seems that you never know where he will turn up in the future, but you can always tell where he has already been. It looks as if he had a ball zipping around the light poles, leaving a spiral of red as if to say, "You're right. I've been here." And what a time he must have had curling all the bows on the presents under trees in the dorms!

But our spirit loves to come out in the evenings most of all. Sometimes you can hear him ringing across the campus in the chimes from Clinton Hall, or jingling hurriedly down the sidewalk in the brisk night air, or caroling "Joy to the World" on the streets of Waverly.

At other times a sparkling pin in the semi-darkness of the cafeteria line or an emerald light glowing from someone's window is all that tells you he is around. Perhaps you'll find him also in the hushed glow of candles at Chi Rho's Candlelighting Service Monday night or in the worship of Christ at Christmas at Wartburg.

However, I'm sure he won't want to stay here over vacation, so why don't each of you take part of the Christmas spirit home with you?

"... and it was always said of him that he knew how to keep Christmas well... May that be truly said of us, and all of us!" — "A Christmas Carol."
